

BSSa

SCOTLAND

EDINBURGH OPEN DAY

Saturday
19 March 2011
10.30am to 4.30pm
The Melting Pot
5 Rose Street
Edinburgh EH2 2PR

The British Stammering Association Scotland is holding a one day conference and public information event for adults who stammer. Partners, friends, family members and colleagues are welcome too. So are speech and language therapists and other interested professionals.

- Norbert Lieckfeldt, Chief Executive of the British Stammering Association, will be talking about the Year of Communication 2011.
- Frank Geoghegan-Quinn, Frances Knapp and Martin Brough, BSA Scotland's self management project team, will be giving an update on the progress of the project and how you can get further involved in the establishment and development of local self management groups.

There will be a programme of workshops on a variety of different topics, so if you have an interest in stammering, whether personal or professional, please come along; you are sure of a warm welcome and an enjoyable and worthwhile day out. Refreshments and lunch will be provided (by donation). Come for the entire day or just drop by whenever you can. If you know for sure you will attend, please tell us in advance.

Full details of the programme can be found on:
www.stammering.org/scotland

To find out more or to secure your place, please contact BSA Scotland:

8 Barclay Terrace, Edinburgh EH10 4HP
Tel: 08453 303 800 E-mail: bsascotland@stammering.org

The British
Stammering
Association
SCOTLAND

The Melting Pot provides affordable, shared, serviced office space in the heart of Edinburgh for social innovators, ethical businesses, charities and others who are working for more than profit. For more information about the venue, go to: www.themeltingpotedinburgh.org.uk

BSA Scotland is a member of the Long Term Conditions Alliance Scotland. The Self Management Programme is funded by the LTCAS Self Management Fund www.ltcas.org.uk

BSA Scotland is a member of Communication Forum Scotland. For more information on inclusive communication, and to access the Talk for Scotland toolkit, please go to: www.communicationforumscotland.org.uk

How to get to The Melting Pot